Abolishment of Eldorado Schools' Superintendency Called Illegal

The Illinois Superintendent of Public Instruction's legal division has notified interested parties that abolishment of the office of superintendent of the Eldorado City Schools is illegal, and could result in withdrawal of state recognition of the school system and withholding of state distributive funds.

The letter, dated April 3, was written by N. E. Hutson, assistant Superintendent of Public Instruction in charge of legal matters, to parties interested in a situation which has developed in the Eldorado schools.

The school system has been in financial difficulty for some time. A few months ago six of the seven board members resigned and successors were appointed by Grattan Hill, remaining board member.

On March 20, the school board announced that the situation of City Superintendent was being abolished in the interest of economy. Ralph Slow is the superintendent, having held that situation for about 25 years.

The letter from the State Superintendent's office follows:

"I have your letter of March 27th in which you advise that the City Board of Education of Eldorado, Illinois abolished the office of Superintendent of the City Schools on the 20th day of March, 1958; that the action was based on lack of finances and decrease of enrollment."

"You have asked for an investigation by the Superintendent of Public Instruction into the financial condition of the district and the reason why this action of the board was taken.

"I advise you that this office is not a law-enforcing agency and our duties are advisory and supervisory only. The Superintendent of Public Instruction also has the power to grant certificates of recognition to schools meeting the standards fixed by him, or refuse to grant such recognition. This power of recognition does give the office some justification to require that schools operate according to law.

"In my opinion there is nothing more certain than that a board of education must have a superintendent. See Section 7-11 of the School Code. This provision of law makes it the duty of the school board 'to employ a superintendent' who shall have charge of the administration of the schools under the direction of the board of education. I do not believe that a school board may operate its schools without a superintendent nor that a school district is entitled to recognition if it has no superintendent. In other words, the board's alleged action in abolishing the office was illegal and not authorized.

"When the district is considered for recognition at the end of the school term, I cannot see how the office will be able to grant such recognition. This will mean loss of State aid of all kinds, as well as grave disadvantages for the graduates of the high school.

"An investigation by this office of these matters would avail us or your clients nothing since we have no power to act or to require any changes. We are, however,

No Indictment In Hill Shooting

A circuit court grand jury indicted two young men for burglary Monday but did not indict Teresa Lewis of Carrier Mills in the March 16 shotgun slaying of her brother, Truman Hill.

Mrs. Lewis admitted she held the shotgun which fired and struck Hill after he and others had entered her home despite her protests. Inquest testimony revealed they pushed open and went inside Mrs. Lewis' house, that Truman Hill had knocked out a light bulb before the shooting.

Indicted were William Earl Goss, who resides north of Galatia, and Robert Fillingim, who lives north of Eldorado. They were named in burglary indictments, charged with entering Potter's pool room Jan. 9 and stealing money.

Davenport to Boost Area at N. York Exhibit

Businessmen's Group Underwrites Expenses for Trip

Robert S. Davenport has departed for New York City to boost the local area at the National Industrial Development Exposition that runs through Friday of this week.

Mr. Davenport, who has the best knowledge of anybody in Harrisburg regarding the industrial potential of the area, was sent by the Harrisburg Businessmen's Association, which is underwriting his expenses.

Also boosting this area at the exposition is another Saline county man, Frank Zolton, secretary of the Eldorado Chamber of Commerce, sent there by the Eldorado group.

The Saline Valley Development Association, composed of the Saline and Gallatin county areas, voted several weeks ago to take part in this exposition. Southern Illinois University's Department of Community Development has guided the southern Illinois communities that are taking part in the show, designed to attract industry into southern Illinois.

One large exhibit will describe the industrial possibilities in Carle, Cobden, Coulterville, Edwardsville, Flora, Mt. Vernon, Mounds, Steelville and West Frankfort, as well as the Saline Valley Development Association. Costs were pre-rated according to population.

Others at the southern Illinois exhibit are Ed Hasse, George Boyce, George Criminger and Robert Henderson of the SIU Department of Community Development, Mason Parker of the Central Illinois Public Service Co. and Charles W. McCaula of the Illinois Power Co.

Lana Turner's Daughter Is Ordered Held

HOLLYWOOD — Glamorous Lana Turner was reported in "a very bad way" today at her Beverly Hills home from the stress of the slaying of handsome Johnny Stompanato, 32, by her 14-year-old daughter, Cheryl.

The blonde actress sobbed Monday shortly after Presiding Judge Donald A. Odell of Juvenile Court ruled Cheryl must remain confined for the death of her mother's lover Friday night.

Odell listened to attorneys representing the actress and the girl's father, restaurantier Stephen Crane, and then ruled she must stay in Juvenile Hall until a pre-detention hearing April 24 in nearby Santa Monica.

The jurist said he thought it was in the girl's interest to keep her away from the storm of publicity about the slaying of Stompanato, former bodyguard in the gang of ex-mobster Mickey Cohen.

Cheryl plunged a razor-sharp butcher knife into Stompanato's abdomen during an argument between Miss Turner and the ex-Marine.

At the next hearing for the girl juvenile authorities will decide whether Cheryl will be tried for the slaying, freed, committed to the California Youth Authority or placed in a foster home.

Attorneys Jerry Giesler and Arthur Crowley sought Cheryl's release to one of the parents or failing that the placement of the tall, dark-haired girl with her maternal grandmother, Mrs. Mildred Turner.

County Coroner Theodore Curphy announced that a "routine" inquest would be held Friday into Stompanato's death.

The body of the underworld character was placed aboard a plane Monday night for return to Stompanato's hometown of Woodstock, Ill.

Surprise Walkout

CBS Supervisors Man Cameras During Strike by Technicians

NEW YORK — Columbia Broadcasting System radio and television stations across the nation were on the air today with supervisory workers behind the cameras and control panels in place of 1,300 striking technicians.

Film was substituted for some scheduled live television shows in which the camera work was considered too intricate for the inexperienced hands. This will include tonight's scheduled Red Skelton show from Hollywood if the strike is still on, the network said. An old Skelton program will be shown from film.

The 1,300 members of eight locals of the International Brotherhood of Electrical Workers walked off their jobs at 1 p. m. Monday in a surprise strike. Their contract had expired Jan. 31, but negotiations had continued in Washington with officers of the Federal Mediation and Conciliation Service sitting in on the talks.

The strikers man CBS-owned radio and television stations in New York, Los Angeles, Chicago and St. Louis, TV stations only in Hartford, Conn., and Milwaukee, and radio stations only in Boston and San Francisco.

The network serves a total of 200 TV stations and 201 radio stations, but only the 6 radio and 6 TV stations it owns were affected. There was no agreement between company and union spokesmen as to the issues involved.

William C. Fitts Jr., CBS vice president in charge of labor relations, said the action was "an economic strike for exorbitant wage demands." Fitts said the company had offered a 7 per cent wage increase that would bring base pay after three years service to $185 a week.

Union officials said the company offer was 6 per cent rather than 7 and would not cover the cost of living increase since their last contract. But they said there were other equally important matters in dispute as well.

One of them is "job security because of the threat of automation," the local's business manager, Charles A. Calame, said. Another, he said, is a "clarification of work jurisdiction over video tape." Tape, which can record a TV show and play it back immediately without the processing required for film, is an issue for nearly all technical TV unions who are maneuvering for jurisdiction over its handling and the jobs it will open.

Indicate Light Primary Voting In Saline County

Saline county voters had sunny skies today to go to the polls but indications were that as a whole the voting would be a little light, as is usually the case in off-year primaries.

Only two state offices were on this year's ballot—state treasurer and state superintendent of public instruction. But there was the large number of county offices up this time, as is the case in the off-year balloting. There were races for county clerk, treasurer and sheriff on both tickets.

Also, there were races for GOP congress, Democratic state senator and representative by both parties. The Daily Register will compile returns but because the polls will remain open an hour later and because there are three ballots (Republican, Democratic and a non-political ballot for members of the Saline County Board of School trustees) to count, it is anticipated that it will be some time before the results of some races will be determined.

Brushes Aside Statements By Khrushchev

President Renews Disarmament Plan In Note to Soviets

WASHINGTON — President Eisenhower today called on Russia to join the United States in banning production of atomic weapons. He proposed that nuclear materials be manufactured "only for peaceful purposes."

The President renewed the U. S. disarmament proposal in a note to Soviet Premier Nikita Khrushchev.

He brushed aside Khrushchev's statements and note of last Friday proposing an immediate halt to nuclear test explosions.

The President said the "timing, wording and manner" of the Soviet declaration "cannot but raise questions as to its real significance."

He also urged Khrushchev to accept the "open skies" disarmament - inspection plan, first proposed by Eisenhower in 1955, and the recent U. S. proposal to ban space warfare.

The White House said the note was cleared with the North Atlantic Treaty Allies. It was delivered to the Kremlin this morning.

For Peace Purposes
In asking Russia to accept his "atoms for peace" proposal of 1953, the President said the "heart of the nuclear problem is not the mere testing of weapons, but the weapons themselves."

He said if weapons are dependably dealt with, "then it is natural to suspend their testing."

But he said Russia "continues to reject the concept of an internationally supervised program to end weapons production and to reduce weapons stocks."

The President said if Russia is as "peace-loving as it professes," it should surely want to bring about an international supervised diversion of nuclear material from "weapons purposes to peace purposes."

Referring to Khrushchev's April 4 letter asking for a suspension of nuclear testing, the President said, "It seems peculiar that the Soviet Union, having just concluded a series of tests of unprecedented intensity, should now, in bold headlines, say that it will not test again, but add, in small type, that it may test again, if the United States carries out its already long-announced and now imminent series of tests."

Cites Bermuda Declaration
The United States, Eisenhower said, is trying to develop the "defensive rather than the offensive" weapons and to learn how to "minimize" nuclear fallout.

"It goes without saying," the President said, "that these experiments, so far as the United States is concerned, are so conducted that they cannot appreciably affect human health."

He recalled the joint declaration made by the United Kingdom and the United States in Bermuda on March 24, 1957. He said the two countries declared that they would conduct nuclear tests only in such a manner as would keep world radiation from rising to more than a "small fraction of the levels that might be hazardous."

He said the joint declaration also pledged the two countries to continue publicly announcing test series well in advance of their occurrence and expressed a willingness to permit limited international observation of such tests if Russia would do the same.

Russia, he said, "has never responded to that invitation."

He said the latest series of Soviet tests was conducted "behind a cloak of secrecy, so far as the Soviet Union could make it so." Nevertheless, he said, the United States still intends to invite observation by the United Nations of "certain" of the forthcoming tests at the mid-Pacific proving grounds.

Democrats, Senators, 1960

Editorial—BY BRUCE BLOSSAT

It has become almost axiomatic in presidential politics that governors rather than senators are favored as standard bearers. But the Democrats may find themselves tossing out the axiom in 1960.

There are a number of explanations for what has become a fairly common habit in the choosing of nominees.

For one thing, governors, especially those in the bigger states, often come to conventions well fortified with strength through control of home state delegations and influence in others.

For another, a governor may acquire national stature through vote-getting or administrative performances at home, yet he can avoid making enemies beyond his own borders. A senator, on the other hand inevitably builds a detailed and sometimes lengthy record on national issues. Many of his votes can put him in disfavor with special groups of voters.

Yet when all this is said, it is still true that senators are sometimes spurned for reasons not basically linked to this theorizing.

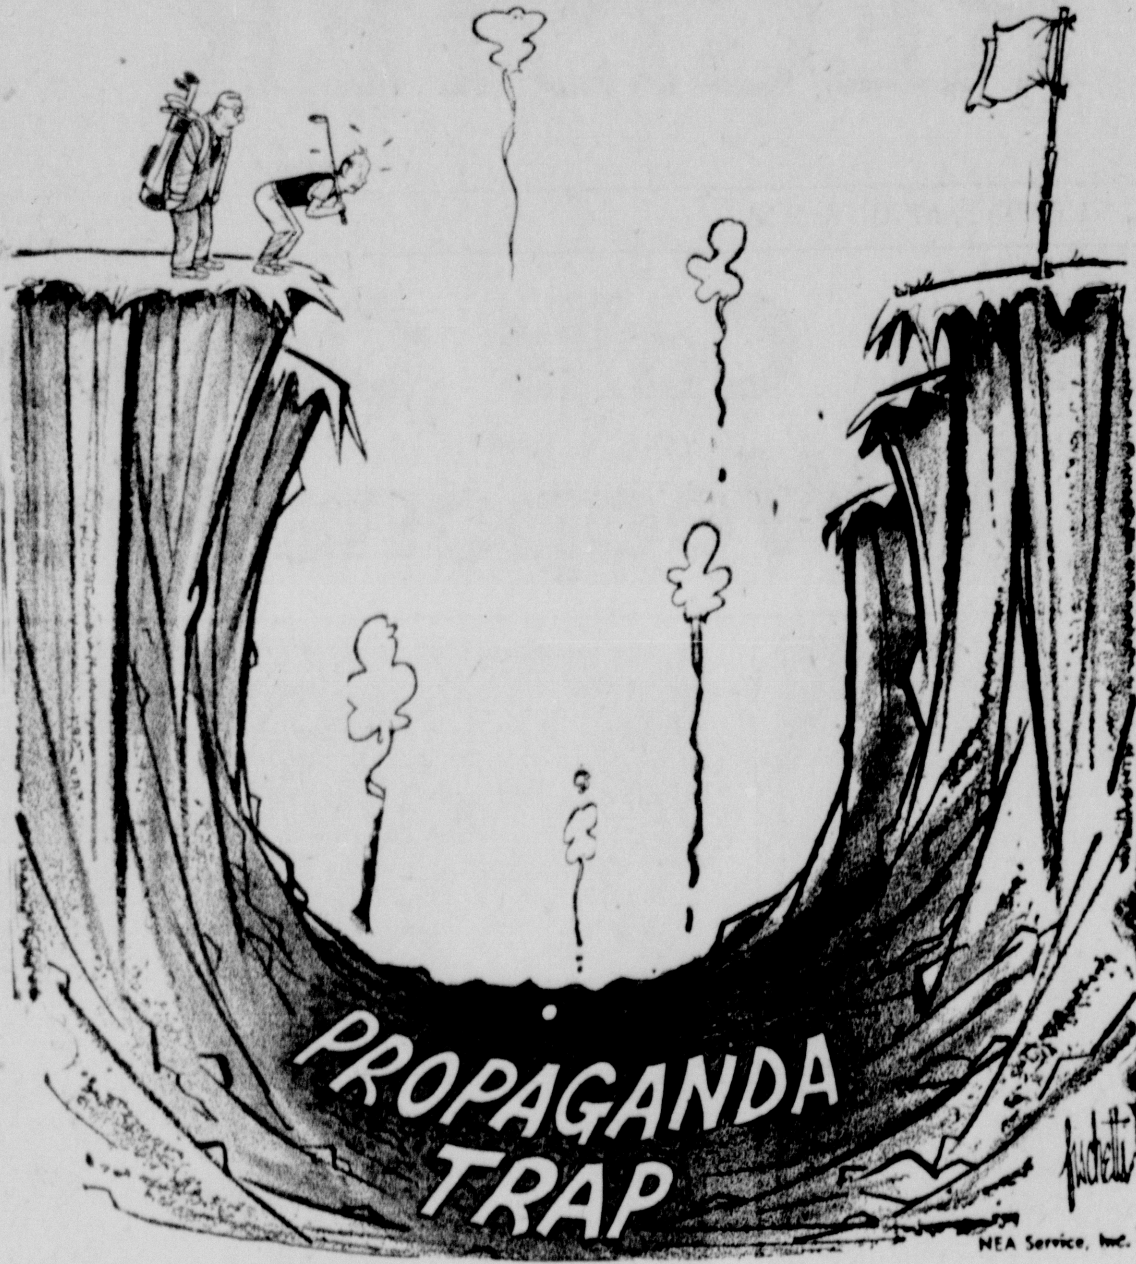

In 1952, when Adlai Stevenson was being very reluctant, Senator Barkley, the late Kentuckian, stood strongly placed to gain the Democratic nod. Labor leaders vetoed him on grounds of age.

That same year, the late Senator Taft of Ohio gave President Eisenhower a terrific battle for the GOP nomination. He lost, not because he was a senator, but because too many key politicians felt he wasn't a strong vote-getter.

For 1960, the Democrats do have one governor, Meyer of New Jersey, in fairly prominent focus. Gov. Averell Harriman of New York is widely rated too old. If Attorney General Edmund (Pat) Brown should win in California this fall, he will wield power at the convention, but, like Meyer, he could be handicapped by lack of broad national recognition.

It's different in the senatorial ranks. Sen. John F. Kennedy of Massachusetts is today's leading

"The Soviets Said This Was Their Last Nuclear Test"

The Washington Merry-Go-Round

By DREW PEARSON

DREW PEARSON Says: Pacific winds which carried Japanese balloons to U.S.A. in 1944 now carry deadly strontium 90; winds concentrate fallout in northern U.S.; United States gets double dose from both Siberia and Nevada.

WASHINGTON.—On a sunny day late in World War II, Rev. Archie Mitchell of Bly, Ore., took his wife and some of the neighbors' children, together with his own, on an outing in the woods of southern Oregon near Lakeview. Suddenly 11-year-old Joan Patzke spotted a huge balloon snagged in a tree. Rushing up to the curious object, one of the children tugged at the balloon, there was a sudden explosion, and when the smoke cleared six were dead. Reverend Mitchell was the only survivor.

The Japanese had taken advantage of the prevailing winds to float the balloon across the vast Pacific ocean to try to set fire to the wheatfields and forests of our Northwest. The Japanese testified after the war that they had launched 9,000 balloons against us during the war, though none caused death—except to the unsuspecting children on Reverend Mitchell's picnic.

It was these Japanese balloons which gave me the idea of using the same west-to-east winds to float freedom balloons over the Iron Curtain. They carried not explosives, but messages of hope, choice for 1960 among the party's rank and file.

Sen. Stuart Symington of Missouri, whose specialty is defense, has managed somehow to vote and speak in a way that has kept him acceptable to both wings of his party. His name is often heard.

Perhaps neither one of these, or any other senator, will in fact be nominee in 1960. But right now their popularity and party acceptability make them better bets than any governor currently on the Democratic horizon.

freedom, and friendship from the American people. A total of 200 million messages was dropped over Poland, Czechoslovakia and Hungary from the summer of 1951 when I launched the first balloon from the German-Czechoslovak border.

Today these same winds are carrying something much more deadly than Japanese balloons. And just as the balloon near Lakeview, Ore., killed unsuspecting children, so a new menace, radioactive fallout, is getting into the bones of children. It will not harm them now, but in future years they may pay for our experiments in the art of war.

NORTHERN U.S. IS HIT TWICE

Once again the winds have most to do with harming American children. The winds which always blow from west to east, because the earth always turns the same way on its axis, always carry radioactive fallout from the testing grounds of Siberia to the United States. On the way, it also hits Japan. But much of the United States gets hit twice—once from Russian fallout, again from American H-bombs tested in Nevada, and to a lesser extent from tests in the mid-Pacific.

Dr. Lester Machta of the Weather Bureau has revealed that fallout doesn't drop uniformly over the globe, but in a fairly narrow band stretching across the northern United States. Last summer measurements showed that accumulated fallout around New York City was two to three times as large as in the south.

This is because Siberian winds blow across Canada and the northern states. In addition, rainfall is generally higher in the north and rain deposits more poison on the ground below. Thus the most populous part of the United States gets the most nuclear punishment.

Fallout from American tests in the Marshall islands doesn't hit the American mainland as much as it does Central America, central Africa, and southeast Asia. This is no joy to the people in those areas, but our Atomic Energy Commission takes some consolation in the fact that these parts of the world are less densely populated—which is true until you get to south-east Asia, an area whose rice paddies are packed with people.

CHILDREN'S BONES

What harms the children is strontium 90, the long-lived poison resembling calcium which gets into the bones. If you eat radioactive food, strontium 90 seeks out the bones and causes leukemia or lung cancer.

Tests at Perry, N. Y. have shown that cows eating hay that has been stored in barns give milk containing very little strontium 90. But cows which have eaten fresh grass subjected to radioactive fallout give milk with considerably increased strontium 90. The amount of strontium 90 in milk has gone up ever since increased nuclear tests in 1954.

Adm. Lewis Strauss and his Atomic Energy Commission claim that fallout from atomic bombs has not added to "natural" radiation. This is true. But the word "natural" is deceptive. For strontium 90 is not natural. It can only be created by nuclear explosions. Therefore, nuclear explosions do not add to natural radiation, but makes strontium 90. The Atomic Energy Commission is begging the point.

341 Disabled Vets In Illinois Receive Wheelchair Grants

More than 341 seriously disabled Illinois veterans have received Federal grants totaling more than $2,441,800 for "wheelchair homes." As of January 1958, some 430 Illinois vets who cannot get about without the aid of wheelchairs, crutches, braces, or the like, had established their eligibility for these special grants. Of these, 341 have received grants and either have moved into their homes or are in the process of building them. The remainder have not yet put their plans into effect.

VA defrays 50 percent of the cost of "wheelchair homes" for eligible veterans up to a maximum of 10,000 under grants which were first authorized in 1948. The average grant is $9,800. These "wheelchair homes" incorporate such special features as ramps, instead of steps; doorways wide enough to accommodate a wheelchair; special bathroom features; and exercise rooms equipped to meet the need of the veteran.

In order to qualify for these special grants, veterans must be entitled to compensation for permanent and total service-connect-

Don't Starve Body When Reducing

CHAMPAIGN, Ill. (AP)—Don't lose your health along with excess pounds, a nutrition expert warns. Many "fad" or "homemade" diets will help you lose weight, but they do it by cutting down on the wrong foods and by robbing the body of nutrients it must have to stay healthy, says Harriet Barto, University of Illinois nutrition specialist.

A good reducing diet includes foods rich in minerals, vitamins and high-quality proteins but are low in carbohydrates and fats, she said. And don't eliminate milk, for the lower the calorie intake, the greater the need for highly nutritious foods.

ed disability for the loss, or loss of use, of both legs due to certain specified conditions.

VA also supplies model plans, specifications, and blueprints of such specially-adapted homes, which the veteran may use if he wishes. The veteran may use the grant in several ways. He may buy or build a home; remodel his present home to suit his needs; or apply the grant against his mortgage if he already has a suitable home. Of the total number of grants paid, approximately 325 were for new homes and 16 were for remodeling.

Problem of Aging:

Older People Urged to Stay In Own Homes As Long As Possible

By LOUIS CASSELS

United Press Staff Correspondent

WASHINGTON (AP)—Miss Jones was 70 when her husband died. She had arthritis but was still pretty spry. She had enough income from insurance and social security to live modestly in her own home.

Several million widows and widowers in the United States are in similar circumstances. A great many of them have adult sons and daughters who are wondering, in a half-guilty, half-anxious way, "should we ask mother (or father) to move in with us?"

The answer, from all leading authorities on aging, is an emphatic no.

Old people, these authorities say, should stay in their own homes as long as they possibly can.

"Although sentiment and tradition demand that children provide a home for their aging parents, adults of different generations don't survive well in the same household," says Dr. Edward J. Stieglitz, noted Washington gerontologist.

"The ideal arrangement is for elderly people to live near, but not with, their middle-aged children."

Ingredients of Happiness

Other authorities say that living apart from their children gives old folks two basic ingredients of happiness — independence and self-esteem. Even if it involves some hardships, the effort to go it alone is likely to be better for their physical and mental health than the "surrender" which is implicit in moving in with the children.

This doesn't mean that children should take a hands-off attitude. On the contrary, a little help with finances, errands or chores may spell the difference for an elderly parent who is trying to maintain his own home.

When there are no children to provide this help, welfare agencies sometimes fill the gap. Many communities have "visiting housekeeper" services. A pioneering few now have a service called "meals on wheels" which delivers hot food to aged people who live alone.

For millions of aged people, who are trying to live on incomes that average less than $80 a month, this big problem is to find separate housing they can afford. Set Up Programs

Congress took cognizance of this problem in the Housing Law of 1956. This act authorized preferential treatment for elderly people in allocating vacancies in low-rent public housing projects. It also set up two new programs in the federal housing administration to provide more housing for old folks.

Under one of these programs, the FHA will guarantee 30-year

United Fund Meeting At Marion April 17

Representatives from all communities interested in the United Fund movement are invited to a meeting at 7:30 p. m. Thursday, April 17, in the CIPS conference room across the street from the Marion post office.

This meeting has been arranged by Robert Krejci of Herrin, who has been an active participant in the development of the United Fund movement in southern Illinois.

It was reported that Carbonale, Marion and Herrin had successful United Fund campaigns in 1957.

The U. S. Department of Agriculture estimates that 20 per cent of all fresh produce purchased by housewives is packaged.

mortgages for elderly persons who wish to buy homes for their own occupancy. A relative or friend may furnish the down payment.

The other program offers long-term FHA loan guarantees to builders of multi-unit rental projects for the elderly. Especially liberal financing terms are available to non-profit organizations, such as churches, lodges or unions, that undertake to sponsor such housing projects.

Three Million With Children

Regardless of how desirable it may be to have a home of their own, some old folks just can't swing it. About three million of them are now living in the homes of married children.

Many helpful tips can be found in two excellent pamphlets which were prepared specifically for the guidance of "three generation families."

One is "The Older Person In the Home," by the U. S. Public Health Service. It may be ordered from the Superintendent of Documents, U. S. Government Printing Office, Washington, 25, D. C. The price is 20 cents.

The other is "When Parents Grow Old" by Elizabeth Ogg, which may be ordered from Public Affairs Pamphlets, 22 East 38th Street, New York 16, N. Y. The price is 25 cents.

THIS IS TEXAS EASTERN...

horsepower to boost
gas deliveries

An extra 82,000 horsepower push has helped to increase the capacity of Texas Eastern's natural gas pipeline system to a record high... 1.7 billion cubic feet daily.

This horsepower was added during 1957 at newly-built compressor stations... and at key existing stations where new compressor horsepower has been installed.

Back in 1947—when Texas Eastern first began operating the Big Inch and the Little Big Inch pipelines for transmission of natural gas—there were no compressor stations at all in operation in the system. Natural gas flowed through the system's 3182 miles of pipeline under gas field pressure at the rate of some 138,000,000 cubic feet daily.

Now, a grand total of 533,000 horsepower... harnessed in 55 compressor stations spaced every 50 to 75 miles along the 6000-mile natural gas system... is speeding gas from the Southwest to distributing companies serving millions of homes and thousands of factories in the Midwestern, Appalachian and Eastern seaboard states.

The growth of this phase of Texas Eastern's varied operations is an impressive testimonial to natural gas... to its acceptance by homeowners and industry, and to its merits as a clean, economical and adaptable fuel.

Cuba Frees U. S. Newsmen Held For Entering Closed Territory

HAVANA, Cuba (AP) — A group of American newsmen held for entering restricted territory without proper authorization have been released from custody in Santiago de Cuba, it was disclosed today.

They were Harold Lidin of the United Press, Homer Bigart of the New York Times, and Robert Taber of the Columbia Broadcasting System.

Three others were released at 9:30 a. m. today. They were Ward Cannel of NEA, Ray Brennan of the Chicago Sun-Times, and Alan Jarlson of KRAM-KSHO-TV, Las Vegas, Nev.

A seventh newsmen, Bob Silva of WKCT, Miami, Fla., also was reported released.

Silva was arrested by Cuban army authorities when he stepped off a plane at Santiago last Saturday and was held until this morning.

Cannel, Brennan and Jarlson were held overnight in the Fuste Moncada, the Cuban army headquarters in Santiago de Cuba. Brennan said they were not mistreated.

Negotiations for release of the newsmen were conducted in Havana between U. S. Ambassador Earl T. Smith and Cuban Prime Minister and Minister of State Gonzalo Gueill.

The Cuban government maintained that the newsmen were in a military zone during a state of emergency without proper authorization. Santiago de Cuba is the capital of Oriente province where the rebels are carrying on the heaviest part of their campaign against the government of President Fulgencio Batista.

The American ambassador said afterwards that the Cuban government has "suggested and requested" that the newsmen leave Santiago and return to Havana.

Batista's government announced earlier loyal troops in eastern Cuba have turned back rebel thrusts at both Santiago and Baire, inflicting "sizeable" casualties on the insurgents.

Harrisburg Baptist Women to Attend Illinois WMU Meeting at Vandalia

The Baptist Woman's Missionary Union of Illinois will meet in its 50th session at Vandalia Thursday and Friday. The Harrisburg Baptist churches will be well represented with Mrs. Paul Hays, state WMU president, Mrs. William F. Cullen, executive committee member, Mrs. D. H. Hiller, Mrs. Charles Wilson, Mrs. Guy Lawrence and many others planning to attend.

Some of the women from each of the churches will attend at least one session and for many of them it will be the Business Women's circle banquet at 5:30 p. m. Thursday in the Washington school cafeteria at $1.50 per plate with tickets available at the registration desk. All women are urged to register even though they attend only one meeting.

Among the prominent speakers will be Dr. R. W. Wallis, pastor of the First Baptist church of Litchfield and former pastor in Harrisburg, who will speak at the opening session on the theme for the meetings, "Love So Amazing, So Divine"; Mrs. Noble Y. Beall, Baptist Home Mission Board member, Atlanta, Ga., active in the work of the Goodwill Centers, who will speak at two meetings; Mrs. Irene Curtis, Troy, Alabama, past executive secretary of the state of Illinois, now with the children's home in Troy; Rev. U., Waco, Texas, who will speak Thursday evening and Friday; Dr. Floyd North, Foreign Mission board member, Richmond, Va., and many others outstanding in their respective fields.

Of particular interest will be the Baptist book store tea at the close of Friday's session when L. H. Moore will autograph his book, "Southern Baptists in Illinois."

U. S. Jet Lands In Azores, Short Of Non-Stop Mark

TORREJON AIR BASE, Madrid, Spain (AP) — A U. S. Air Force jet Stratotanker gave up its attempt to fly non-stop from Tokyo to Madrid today and landed at Lajes Air Base in the Azores — 1,200 miles short of its mark.

The plane landed at Lajes at 10:25 a. m. e. s. t.

The shortened flight of 10,288 miles broke the previous unrefueled jet distance record by nearly 4,000 miles.

But it was 947 miles short of the distance record held by the Navy's propeller-driven "Trueulent Turtle" patrol bomber, set in 1956 on a hop from Australia to Ohio.

Capt. George Spotwood, Air Force spokesman at the joint Spanish-American base here, said the jet stream had counted on the push power of the jet stream to beat the Navy's mark.

"Jet stream winds they had counted on decreased over the American West Coast and again over Washington," he said.

Abolishment of Eldorado School Supt. Called Illegal

sending a copy of this letter to Mr. Grattan Hill, President of the Board of Education at Eldorado, so that he and his board may fully understand the consequences of their action if they persist in attempting to operate the school without a superintendent.

"You have also enclosed a clipping from the Evansville Courier in which the President of the board was quoted as saying that the revolving fund 'was costing $2,000 a month and there was no record of where the funds went.' If this is the case, then the revolving fund has not been properly nor legally set up. The board should provide the employee handling the revolving fund with a certain stated amount which is found by the board to be necessary for the operation of the fund for one month. The fund may be established 'for school cafeteria lunch rooms, athletics, petty cash or similar purposes.' See Section 7-22 of the School Code. The law further requires the bonded employee to make a monthly report and an annual summary of all receipts and expenditures. When such report is approved, then the board should reimburse the fund and all receipts of the revolving fund should be deposited in a bank approved by the treasurer and should be deposited in the treasurer's name.

"If the statement quoted is true, then the fund has been operated illegally because there should be a report made once each month. This certainly would provide a record as to where the funds went.

"Yours very truly,
"N. E. HUTSON
"Assistant Superintendent
"In charge of Legal Matters."

Find Body in Shed Swept by Fire

EFFINGHAM, Ill. (AP) — A man was found dead in a small shack that was destroyed by fire here early today and has been identified as Clarence Owens, 75, a retired railroad.

Police said Claude Yocum, who lived in the converted shed, was intoxicated and unable to give a coherent story of how the fire started. Yocum is being held in city jail.

Authorities said it was not known if Owens was burned severely or whether he died of a heart attack. An investigation was underway. Effingham County Coroner Doctor George Wood will conduct an inquest.

Owens lived at a rooming house here.

Menard Convict Wins Point with His Metal Diet

CHESTER, Ill. (AP) — William (Scrapiron) Hinkle, 25, who thinks his strange diet should qualify him for special treatment, has won his point at Menard State Prison.

Hinkle was reported recovering at the Prison Hospital today from severe indigestion caused by wandering around with his stomach tinkling with:

Several pieces of scrap iron, tops of metal tobacco cans, a 4-inch pencil, 15 paper clips, a fingernail clipper and 30 nails in assorted sizes.

Prison Warden Ross Randolph wasn't surprised by Hinkle's strange appetite. It seems he entered the prison in 1950 with 12 keys from the Marion, Ill., county jail jangling in his stomach. He was convicted for forgery.

The keys and several other metal objects Hinkle has swallowed in the intervening years were removed by non-surgical treatment. But the prison surgeon, Dr. Donald Wham, decided he'd have to operate to remove Hinkle's latest meal.

The operation was performed by Wham with the aid of an electro-magnet.

Randolph observed that Scrapiron has been "bucking for the psycho ward, where he wouldn't have to work."

"This convinces me. It's the mental section for him when he's ready to leave the hospital," the warden added.

Funds Approved For Opening in Golconda Seawall

GOLCONDA, Ill. (AP) — A southern Illinois congressman has advised the Golconda City Council that Congress has approved $75,000 for the Corps of Engineers to build an opening in the seawall at Golconda.

Rep. Kenneth Gray, West Frankfort Democrat, advised Mayor Woodrow M. Patton of the appropriation by telegram Monday night during a City Council meeting.

Golconda has sought an opening in the seawall to aid ferry service to the town for about 12 years. A ramp will be constructed down to the opening at the foot of Washington Street so cars can drive onto the ferry.

Ferry service at Golconda has been hampered since the seawall was built in 1939.

The opening in the seawall will be constructed so it can be closed during times of high water along the Ohio River.

Ex-Mobster Faces, Fine, Imprisonment

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Pudgy, ex-hoodlum Mickey Cohen today faced a fine and imprisonment in the county jail for slugging waiter Donald Black in a "tiff" at the Villa Capri restaurant last Jan. 29.

Cohen was convicted of two counts of misdemeanor, battery and disturbing the peace Monday after brief deliberations by a jury of nine women and three men.

Black, who also filed a $50,000 damage suit against Cohen, charged the 50-year-old ex-mobster hit him when he accidentally brushed him during a party at the restaurant for entertainer Sammy Davis Jr.

Earthquake Shakes Alaska

By United Press

One of history's most powerful earthquakes echoed across wide sections of the United States when it rocked a desolate tundra region of Alaska.

The quake Monday broke five seismographic instruments in a Piermont, N. Y., laboratory, 3,590 miles distant. At Fairbanks, about 150 miles from the quake area, light fixtures swayed and articles were toppled from shelves.

Its intensity on various seismographs across the country ranged from 7.5 to 8.5 on the Richter magnitude scale. The greatest earthquake previously recorded was a 1950 tremor in Tibet which hit 8.6.

University of Alaska and U. S. Coast and Geodetic Survey scientists placed the center of the quake at the Indian village of Hughes, northwest of Fairbanks on the Koyukuk River. No deaths or injuries were reported.

Geologists said the quake was too far inland to cause tidal waves along the Pacific Coast.

Mickey Cohen Pays For Stompanato's Funeral Expenses

CHICAGO (AP) — The body of Johnny Stompanato, 32, handsome underworld figure knifed to death by Lana Turner's 14-year-old daughter, was flown to Chicago today for burial in his hometown of Woodstock, about 50 miles northwest of here.

Ex-gangster Mickey Cohen, who employed Stompanato as a bodyguard, and the victim's brother, Carmine Stompanato, a Woodstock barber, took a separate plane from Los Angeles to Chicago to attend the services, according to mortuary owner Frank R. Palmieri.

Private services for Stompanato will be held Wednesday afternoon in Woodstock.

Palmieri said in Los Angeles that Cohen had paid for the funeral expenses. Asked the cost, Palmieri said, "Well, figure the price of a Cadillac."

Six Killed in Flaming Crash

BAYTOWN, Tex. (AP) — A mother with her four children in her car tried vainly to avoid collision with a gasoline truck Monday night but failed. She, the four children and the truck driver died in a flaming explosion.

A car driven by Mrs. Mary Edna Taylor, 33, smashed into a gasoline filled tank truck which had jack-knifed across the road. The impact ripped the tank, causing hundreds of gallons of gasoline to explode.

Four children, Leonard, 14; Mary Isabella, 12; Linda Elaine, 10; and John Harvey, 6, died in the flames.

Truck driver Milton Heaton, 26, also was killed.

Frank White, of the Public Safety Department, said the truck apparently was coming downhill on State Highway 146 when Heaton slammed on the brakes, jackknifing the trailer.

Landes said each mine would be closed in turn for a period of about two weeks.

Voting Light In Illinois For Primary

CHICAGO (AP) — Louis E. Beckman and Warren E. Wright collided for the Republican nomination for state treasurer today in the top race of Illinois' first-in-the-nation 1958 primary election.

Besides the contest for the nomination itself the Beckman-Wright battle was viewed as a test of Gov. Stratton's leadership of the state GOP since he has thrown his political weight behind Beckman.

Despite the promise of fair and mild weather, a light total vote in the neighborhood of 1,500,000 was forecast. Total vote registration in the state exceeds five million.

Voting was light and without incidents in Chicago during the first three hours after the polls opened. Judge Otto Kerner, head of the Cook County election machinery, predicted on the basis of the early turnout that 450,000 — or 28 percent of the registered voters — would cast ballots in Cook and about 700,000 in all of Cook County.

The polls were open from 6 a. m. to 6 p. m. under a law passed by the 1957 Legislature to extend the polls closing time by one hour.

In addition to nominations for the first four-year state treasurer term, candidates also were nominated for Congress, state superintendent of public instruction, half the state Senate and the entire state House of Representatives.

Rough play marked the contest, and penalties marred play. But the All-Stars, who gained a 30-all tie at halftime, trailed the Globetrotters by only a few points most of the game.

The two clubs' next court appearance was scheduled at Denver tonight.

Sharp Scoring Decline in Major College Basketball, NCAA Statistics Reveal

NEW YORK —A large reduction in the number of free throws in major college basketball during the 1957-58 season produced the sharpest scoring decline in the 66-year history of the game.

NCAA statisticians released the season's final figures today and announced the point production was five per cent less than that recorded during 1956-57. In 4,149 major college games, the 1957-58 season produced an average total of 136.9 points per contest compared to the 1956-57 average of 144.0.

The number of foul shots per game dwindled for the fifth straight year. There was almost no change in the average number of personal fouls. Thus the decline in free throws was the result of the new rule which limited the number of free throw opportunities during the past season.

The scoring drop was emphasized by the few two-points-a-minute teams in major college ranks in 1957-58. Only eight, headed by Marshall's 88-point average, were able to average at least 80 points a game. This is the lowest total since 1952 and is in sharp contrast to 1956-57 when 24 teams scored at that rate.

For the second time in NCAA history, two teams from the same state finished 1-2 in scoring as West Virginia followed Marshall with an 86.9 average.

The final team defense standings also emphasized the trend in scoring. The 50.5 average compiled by San Francisco and Oklahoma State's 51.7 are the best defensive marks in six seasons.

SIU Defeats St. Louis U., 6-1

CARBONDALE, Ill. — Southern Illinois University scored all its runs in the sixth inning Monday afternoon to down St. Louis University, 6-1, in a college baseball game.

Southern was trailing 1-0 going into the big sixth inning. Key blow of the rally was catcher J. S. Sanders' two-run single with the bases loaded.

Simpson Hurt As Yanks Wallop Phillies, 20-1

By United Press
All spring long Casey Stengel has been complaining that his New York Yankees "ain't doin' enough hitting," but now that they have staged springtime's biggest slugfest, is Casey happy?

No, he isn't. Because the fractured wrist suffered by Harry (Suitcase) Simpson took a lot of joy out of the 20 to 1 walloping the Yankees handed the Philadelphia Phillies Monday at Greenville, S. C. It was the highest score run up by any team this year and included six homers.

Simpson's right wrist was fractured in the fourth inning when he was struck by a pitch thrown by Phil's southpaw Curt Simmons. The wrist was placed in a cast and he will be out of action about four weeks. He was due in New York today for further examination.

Bill Skowron slammed two of the homers with Mickey Mantle, Elston Howard, Don Larsen, and Bobby Del Greco accounting for the others. Mantle added three doubles and a single in a five-for-five day.

Southpaw Johnny Antonelli, striving to come back from a poor season, doled out four hits in his seven innings as the Giants beat the Cleveland Indians for the third straight time, 7-0.

Lindy McDaniel worked seven scoreless frames in the Cards' 8-0 win over the Chicago White Sox. Brother Von McDaniel and Herm Wehmeier cleaned up the five-hit-ter. Ray Katt's three-run homer led the Cards.

In the other exhibitions, the Milwaukee Braves downed the Los Angeles Dodgers, 3-2; the Washington Senators scored a 7-3 win over Cincinnati despite back-to-back ninth inning homers by Frank Robinson and rookie Vada Pinson; and Ronnie Kline became the third Pittsburgh pitcher to go the full route, allowing the Boston Red Sox four hits in a 4-2 victory. The Baltimore - Chicago Cubs game was called after one inning because of wet grounds.

390 Fatalities on Illinois Highways First 3 Months

SPRINGFIELD — A total of 390 persons were killed on Illinois highways during the first three months of 1958, about 19 per cent fewer than the 484 killed in the same period in 1957, Gov. Stratton reported today.

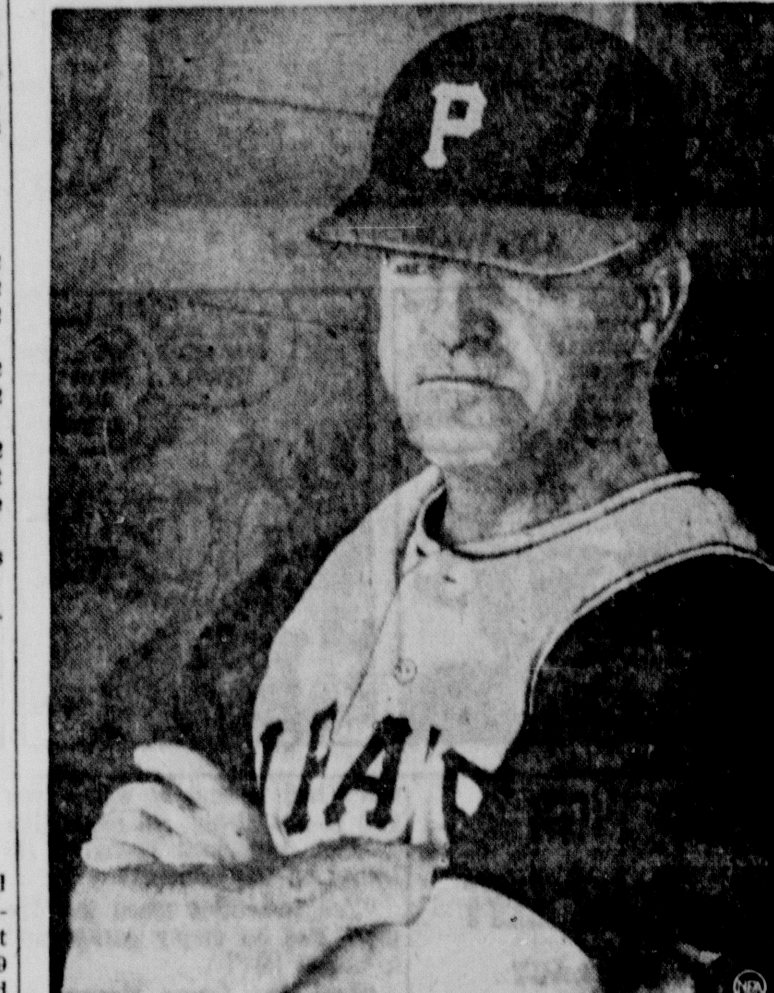

Stratton said March was the ninth consecutive month in which fatalities were reduced under the corresponding month for the previous year. Stratton released the fatality figures totaled by the highway and traffic safety divisions.

Provisional reports show 159 persons were killed during March, 1958, compared with 182 in March 1957, Stratton said.

LEAD WITH YOUR LEFT

by ED LACY

THE STORY: Believing that former Policemen Ed Owens and Al Wales were murdered because of something that occurred while they were on the force, Detective Dave Wintino is trying to find a lead that will point out the killer. Both figured in a case in which a gangster was murdered and the killer, a bootlegger named Sal Kahn was sent to the chair.

XVI
I made some notes in my book, decided against pie, and left. The other address was the garage where Sal ran his still, where he killed Boots Brenner in 1930. This was in another part of Brooklyn and traveling in Brooklyn is like going over a giant obstacle course. After I'd paid three car fares I was getting low on money—I'd been so sore at Mary I hadn't asked her for a couple of bills—so I flashed my badge in the last bus. The baldy driver asked, "Young to be a cop, aren't you?"

"See the badge, don't you?" I said, walking by him and sitting down.

So a couple of blocks later this billiard ball-head stops the bus to call over a beefy beat patrolman. I was embarrassed and stepped off the bus with him rather than cause more of a scene. I showed him my badge and Police Benevolent Association card, pulled back my shirt so he could see my gun. He said, "I don't want to make no mistakes, one way or the other. First off you hand me your gun, butt first, all nice and easy."

I handed this big bum my gun, telling him, "Be careful it doesn't go off and you shoot yourself." I gave him a dime and told him to save time by using a regular phone to call my precinct. When he finally got Reed on the phone and described me they must have made some crack because the big dumb ox laughed and said, "Looked more like he'd be packing a zip gun than a badge. Thank you, Lieutenant." I knew the ribbing I was in for when I reported back to duty.

The cop gave me my gun, said he was sorry but I must have stood on my toes when I took the physical.

"That's right. And I borrowed my old man's beard too. Look, maybe you can do me some good for a change. Know how to get to this address?"

"You aren't three block from it. Dye plant. On my beat when I'm working radio car. Good people at Christmas."

"Dye plant? Was it ever a garage?"

"I been in this precinct for five years and it's been a dye plant all that time. Tell you, Detective—he stumbled over the word—seems to me I heard a kid was hurt playing in the old building years ago and they had to put a watchman on it. An old duffer in the neighborhood. Still works as a night watchman for the dye company. Old George Davis. Anything important?"

"Naw, checking a reference. Where's this Davis fellow?"

"hen you get to the dye plant keep going a block. You'll see an old brown house that looks like a good wind would carry it away. Can't miss it; same side of the street."

The dye plant was one of these one-story efficient-looking buildings, all spick and span. It had glass-brick windows and air conditioning, looked like a big outfit.

The old brown house sat back from the sidewalk with a white-washed flagpole in the center of a small lawn just starting to look green. I followed a broken walk around the house to a large garden. A plump old gent with a fat nose and a shabby derby on a lot of gray hair was digging up the ground with a pitchfork.

"Mr. Davis?"

He nodded.

I showed my badge as I told him, "Detective Dave Wintino, 201st Squad. And I've had about all the cracks I want about my looking young. If you can spare a few minutes I'd like to chat with you."

"I got plenty of time." His voice had a kind of whine you find in lots of big, old men. "It's a fact you look young." He leaned on the pitchfork.

"You remember when the dye plant was an empty garage and a vacant lot?"

"Sure do. I was always for raising tomatoes in that lot but between the kids playing ball and the rocky soil I got no place."

"Were you around when they had the shooting in the lot?"

He patted his crazy hat. "Sure was. I wasn't at the actual shooting or when they found the body, but I was there when the cops were. Now that was way back in—"

"Nineteen-thirty."

He nodded. "Yep and times was real bad. Garage had been standing empty maybe two, three years when one day I seen two men working on it. It turned out they was bootlegging. Sometimes when I'd be working my tomatoes in the lot on Sundays, or late in the afternoons, I'd see them. The one they killed in prison and the other."

"The other—what did he look like?"

Davis relit his pipe before he said, "One thing I got to hand you cop fellows, you never give up. Like I told that other detective, it's been a—"

"What other detective?"

"Tall one that was handling the case. Even after they give the fellow the chair and the garage was just an old building with busted windows, this dick would still come around and look through the building. Although there wasn't anything to see that I knew of."

"Was the detective named Owens or Wales?"

Mental Health Week Proclaimed April 27-May 3

SPRINGFIELD —The week of April 27-May 3 will be "Mental Health Week" in Illinois by proclamation of the governor.

Gov. Stratton released the proclamation Sunday for the beginning of a statewide observance program sponsored by the Welfare Department and more than 100 public and private organizations.

It will be the 10th annual observance of the special week. Stratton is serving as chairman of the state's mental health week committee for the sixth year.

The governor urged Illinois citizens "to join actively in thoughtful observance" of the week and to realize that mental health is "the nation's gravest public health problem."

"Only the enlightened interest of the public," Stratton said in the proclamation, "translated into appropriate action, can assure the success of our efforts to combat mental illness and promote mental health."

The Welfare Department here announced the annual open house at all state hospitals will be held April 27 as part of the week's activities, and the 10th annual mental health dinner will be held at Chicago April 30.

The department said guided tours of wards and treatment centers will be provided for visitors at the state mental hospitals at Alton, Anna, Chester, Chicago, East Moline, Elgin, Galesburg, Jacksonville, Kankakee, Manteno, Peoria and Tintley Park, and at the state schools for the mentally retarded at Dixon and Lincoln.
